

Coverage for your prescriptions

Is my prescription covered?

You can see if your prescriptions are covered by searching the PreferredRx preferred drug list. This is the list of medicines that are covered by your plan.

Searching the list is easy. Just go to healthpartners.com/preferredrx and search by:

- The name of your medicine (ex. simvastatin)
- The type of medicine you are taking (ex. cholesterol)
- The first letter of the medicine you are taking (ex. 'S')

What if my medicine is not on the list?

When you search PreferredRx, the medicines that come up are "preferred" medicines. If your medicine is not on the list or appears in an orange box online, it is "non-preferred." Depending on your benefits, you may have coverage for non-preferred medicines, but they will cost more than preferred medicines.

If you want to switch to a preferred medicine, we can help you see what your options are. Go to healthpartners.com/preferredrx and click on the Drug Category tab. Then, search for the type of medicine you are taking. A list of preferred medicines will come up. Print it out and bring it to your doctor to see if one of those medicines will work for you.

How much do I have to pay for my prescriptions?

The amount you have to pay depends on what your benefits are (whether you have a copay or coinsurance) and which group your medicine is in (generic preferred, brand preferred, non-preferred or specialty).

You can see what your benefits are by looking at your Summary of Benefits. To find out what group your medicine is in, use this key when you are searching PreferredRx online.

G = generic (italics)

B = BRAND (ALL CAPS)

SD = Specialty Drug
